graduate level course, ED 113, on 5-12 English curriculum, methods, and practices. This course is required for MAT students pursuing Initial licensure in grades 5-12 English; these teacher candidates will simultaneously student teach in an area school in Fall 2025. Undergraduates interested in teaching, tutoring, or some other teaching-related work may also register. ED 113 is focused both on building the necessary understanding of English curriculum and teaching practices as well as developing the critical frames necessary for examining those very curricula and practices.

The Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) in Middle and High School Education program prepares its teacher candidates to develop the skills and practices necessary to thrive in the schools of today and to re-imagine the possibilities of schooling for tomorrow. Through the program, teacher candidates develop a thorough understanding of MA curriculum frameworks, theories of human development and learning, and teaching practices that emphasize students' assets support classrooms that nurture all students. Additionally, teacher candidates cultivate the professional and collegial behaviors and stances that prepare them to be citizen-leaders, ready to wrestle deeply with the profound civic questions at the heart of schooling and education and ready to participate in the broader life of the profession.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have extensive experience teaching English at the high school and/or middle school levels. Masters degree required. A doctorate in a related field preferred. University teaching experience preferred.

Application Instructions

Applications should be uploaded at <https://apply.interfolio.com/168229> and include a cover letter addressing qualifications and issues of equity and diversity, CV, and three letters of reference.

If you have further questions, please contact Michelle Paré at michelle.pare@tufts.edu.

Review of applications and virtual interviews will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the completion of a background check.
